Event Report

The Department of Economics at Veer Narmad South Gujarat University organized a beautiful celebration on the auspicious occasion of Guru Purnima on 10th July 2025, which included devotional singing (bhajans), Sanskrit shloka recitation, and an elocution competition.

Students honored their professors with a traditional tilak using kumkum and rice as a mark of respect. The entire program was conducted by M.A. Semester 1 & 3 students under the guidance of Dr. Manish R. Patel, Dr. Ankita Nadiyadra, Smita N. Naik, and Urvisha Mataliya. The event commenced with the lighting of the ceremonial lamp (deep prajwalan).

Event Report

This was followed by a collective recitation of the Guru Stotra:

गुरु ब्रह्मा गुरु विष्णुः गुरु देवो महेश्वरः ।
गुरुः साक्षात् परब्रह्म तस्मै श्री गुरवे नमः ॥

The chanting of this shloka filled the atmosphere with a divine and spiritual aura.

A large number of participants enthusiastically took part in the bhajan singing, shloka chanting, and elocution competitions. Each participant shared their thoughts on the greatness of the Guru, their guidance, and the significant role Gurus play in shaping lives.

Event Report

In the bhajan and shloka competitions, the participants captivated the audience with devotional songs and melodious Sanskrit verses. During the elocution competition, students expressed their views on topics such as the Guru-Shishya tradition, the role of teachers in the modern era, and their contribution to sowing the seeds of knowledge and values.

With poise and clarity, Vidhi from Semester 3 anchored the entire program with great effectiveness.

The competitions were judged by subject experts and faculty members. Winners were selected based on the excellence of their presentations.
