Message from the Vice Chancellor

MESSAGE

It gives me immense pleasure to present the Placement Bulletin of the Department of Statistics, which continues to exemplify academic excellence, innovation, and a deep commitment to student development.

The Department has achieved a remarkable milestone this year by successfully organizing five national-level academic programmes, including two Faculty Development Programmes (FDPs), one National Seminar on ISKS, and one specialized workshop, all of which received highly positive feedback from participants across the country. In addition, the Department has made a noteworthy and forward-looking initiative by inaugurating an online collaborative lecture series, marking a significant step towards academic networking and knowledge sharing beyond institutional boundaries. It is also a matter of great pride that this year the Department recorded the highest student strength in its entire history as well as highest number of admissions in comparison of any other state university departments, reflecting its growing reputation and trust among learners.

I am particularly delighted to note the outstanding academic achievements of our students. Four students have successfully cleared the NET/SLET, demonstrating the academic rigor and quality mentoring provided by the Department. Furthermore, many students have secured internship opportunities with reputed multinational companies, while three students have gained valuable exposure through internships with the National Sample Survey Office (NSSO)—a commendable achievement that underscores their practical competence and professional readiness.

Equally noteworthy is the participation of a student team in a prestigious state-level contest organized by the Government of Gujarat, where, among the 50 teams selected from across the state, our team stood out as the only one representing a non-engineering background. This accomplishment highlights the analytical strength, adaptability, and competitive spirit of our students.

These achievements are a reflection of the Department's unwavering dedication to excellence in teaching and extension activities. I extend my heartfelt congratulations to the faculty, students, and all stakeholders for their continued efforts in bringing laurels to the University.

I am confident that the Department of Statistics will continue to scale greater heights and contribute significantly to academia, industry, and society.

With best wishes,

Vice-Chancellor

Message from the Registrar

MESSAGE

It is indeed gratifying to place on record the noteworthy progress and achievements of the Department of Statistics as reflected in this Placement Bulletin. The Department has continued to strengthen its academic and administrative framework while maintaining a vibrant and student-centric environment.

During the year, the Department has actively contributed to the academic ecosystem by hosting a series of national-level programmes, including Faculty Development initiatives, a seminar on Indian Knowledge Systems, and a specialized workshop. Such engagements not only enrich academic discourse but also enhance the visibility of the University at the national level. The initiation of an online collaborative lecture series is another commendable step, fostering wider academic connectivity and resource sharing.

I am particularly pleased to observe the encouraging outcomes in terms of student progression. The success of students in qualifying competitive examinations, along with their participation in internships across diverse professional platforms—including government organizations and corporate sectors—reflects the effectiveness of the Department's academic processes and mentoring support.

The Department's students have also demonstrated commendable confidence by participating in competitive platforms at the state level, representing their discipline with distinction among diverse academic backgrounds. Coupled with this, the increasing student enrolment this year signifies growing trust in the quality and relevance of the programmes offered.

Such accomplishments are made possible through coordinated efforts in academic planning, administration, and student support systems. I appreciate the dedication of the faculty and staff in maintaining high standards and ensuring smooth functioning of all activities.

I extend my sincere best wishes to the Department for sustaining this momentum and achieving even greater milestones in the years ahead.

With regards,

Registrar

Message from the Head

MESSAGE

It gives me great pleasure to present the Placement Bulletin 2025–26 of the Department of Statistics, Veer Narmad South Gujarat University. The year has been marked by significant academic initiatives, student achievements, and encouraging placement and internship outcomes.

A major academic accomplishment of the Department was the successful organization of four national-level programmes under the PM-USHA Soft Component—two Faculty Development Programmes, a National Seminar on Indian Statistical Knowledge System, and a National Workshop on Time Series Analysis using Open-Source Software. These programmes strengthened academic interaction, capacity building, and national-level outreach.

The Department also expanded its academic engagement through the Collaborative Online Lecture Series on the contributions of Prof. C. R. Rao, academic visits, special lectures, and other student-oriented activities.

Our students have brought distinction to the Department through NET/GSET qualifications, a Gold Medal, First Rank, scholarships, research presentation awards, internships, and achievements in inter-collegiate competitions. Their successful placements as AI Developers, Data Analysts, Data Science Apprentices and Interns further reflect their academic and professional preparedness.

The Department remains committed to integrating strong statistical foundations with contemporary tools such as Excel, JAMOVI, R and Python, together with project work, industry exposure, and career-oriented training.

I sincerely appreciate the collective efforts of our faculty, staff, students, alumni, collaborators, and the University authorities. I congratulate our students on their achievements and wish them continued success in their academic and professional careers.
